MILWAUKEE DAILY SENTINEL.

VOLUME VIII. NEW SERIES.

THE DEVILS CLOCK.

The town of Herringhausen, not a hundred miles from Frankfort, is one of the most picturesquely antique in Germany, and contains about 12 000 inhabitants. I like to prepare my readers with a tolerable idea of the locality wherein the events narrated transpire—for then I may hope to impress them with a two-fold sympathy in my dramas persons The street in which Herr Bomgarten had his residence, was among the oldest in the town aforesaid, and his residence the oldest in it.

He was himself, also, a high dried piece of antiquity, usually enveloped in a cloud of smoke from sunrise to sunset, except only when his fair daughter sat beside him at their evening meal and talked over the affairs of the day On such occasions he would narrate incidents in his progress through life, and dwell upon acquiring the independence they then enjoyed He had one passion in excess—an intense love of music, and had at one time been no mean proficient on the violin

At the festivals held periodically in all the principal German towns, his judgment was appealed to, and, indeed no meeting of the kind was considered complete if he, by any chance, was absent It may, therefore, naturally be inferred that his daughter had early been instructed in the art, and at nineteen she was a pianist of considerable attainments. These circumstances formed the basis of a desire which became stronger with its years, and which confirmed a resolve that she should wed one of the most accomplished musicians of the age. They say that when all other passions die, ambition survives, and acquires a force proportioned to its solitariness and singleness of aim Certainly it is that out of the many suitors whom the beauty and gentleness or the disposition of Azalia attracted to the domicile of Herr Bomgarten, not one (so scrupulous was he on the score of musical perfection) was permitted by him to continue his visits.

Anxiety for the fulfilment of a hope being usually in proportion to its strength, he sure as the young lady approached twenty-one, began to experience a dread that he might not see her settled This preyed upon his spirits deeply, and urged him to publish, as wide as possible, his intentions. To that end he invited his house on a certain day, all the class musical who chose to compete for his daughter, declaring that at midnight he would decide on the claims of his aspirants Now it is necessary that I should inform my readers that in the grand apartment of Herr Bomgarten's mansion there was a piece of furniture supposed to have been fabricated by a Hungarian magician and which combined so much apparent willfulness that it had been denominated by common consent the Devil's Clock

This time-keeping edifice struck all manner of hours in all manner of ways but whatever might be its vagaries it was always true to the solemn "tocsin" at midnight, so that Herr Bomgarten not without reason, based upon that hour to decide his long cherished scheme

The day at long harassed, and it may be imagined that not a little preparation had been made The piano forte (one of Herrschel's improvements) was placed under a mirror of immense size, and exactly opposite to the (fatal) clock

Azalia was dressed in a holiday suit and lovelier than usual, and from this circumstance, her father augured a prosperous issue At about 8 o'clock in the evening the amateurs were assembled, and the pianoforte who ventured to offer themselves as candidates for so beautiful and so rich a prize were four in number They severally sat down to the instrument and each appeared more than his predecessor to astonish the audience and it was generally imagined that the last performer would be entitled to become the fortunate husband But Herr Bomgarten had quite reckoned in his own mind the extraordinary which candidate rather by sign than words, indicated that he, too must try his skill

The class seemed puzzled at this singular option for up to that moment the gentleman had not been observed in the room at all One or two persons indeed, declared that he had actually stepped from the clock case as the last player of the four concluded his fantasia The fact was many, he said was only impossible to describe the sensation He now withered up the heart with the intensity of his pathos, and again enchanted the soul with multitudinous images of delight—Then would he pour over the imagination a storm of harmonies that excited it almost to frenzy, and, anon, subdued it to the placidity of childhood He was the man, yet, who was he? The question was a painful one

He was fair deome—his aspect was singularly wild and melancholy He executed with marvellous ease but his mind appeared (judging from his eye) to be wandering over fields of thought remote from that in which he was engaged He rose Herr Bomgarten sprang from his seat, and would have embraced him but was repelled by his peculiarity of mien Few minutes had he to decide for midnight was at hand As to the pretty Azalia she was no expression save only that of extreme pallor, and of internal agitation, but when the second hand, the clock struck "12," touched her hand to depart, she rose at once, and without apparent reluctance The most surprising part of the whole business was this, that the stranger holding the hand of the young lady, proceeded at once to the Devil's Clock, and giving out a melancholy glance at the company, touched a spring and retired within its case

As the door closed on the fatal couple, a murmur of horror ran through the assembled guests The unhappy father was so affected that he fainted away, and on sensation returned, declared that he regretted him sorely of having, as it were, interfered with the decrees of Providence "Ah" he exclaimed would that I had selected some honest youth among our neighbors for her husband!—Carl von Muller, for instance, who loved her dearly, and was beloved in return, and whom I drove from the house" Scarcely had he made this avowal when the clock case again opened, and the stranger stepping from it said in a sepulchral voice,

"Is your daughter O man of ambitious views, now married to Carl von Muller would you give her your blessing" "I would" "I would" exclaimed the old man, sobbing— "Then," exclaimed the apparition, "come forth ye happy pair"

At these words the door of the room opened, and Carl von Muller and his lovely bride entered, approached the master of the house and kneeled at his feet "Now" said the stranger, "let me turn this gloom into merriment My name is Mendelssohn, the composer I have just returned from Italy I am the bosom friend of Carl von Muller that clock has a communication with the church of St Roque, (the choir stirs who thereat set it right at twelve at night from superstitious feeling, play a variety of tricks with it by day) and I have been the means of doing an act of friendship and justice" As to moral—but no we will think of that some other time, for now it behoves us sadly to be joyous—and a merrier, happier creature, never was spent in the good old town of Herringhausen

The Sioux Treaties.

Pending the ratification of the treaties negotiated with the Sioux Indians for the relinquishment of a vast tract of fertile country in the Minnesota Territory what (says the Washington Republic) perhaps principally prevents the provisions agreed upon in Council since by the commissioners representing the government

By the Treaties the Sioux treaty signed on the 23d ult has the Dakotas cede the lands east of the Sioux river and Lac Traverse to the Mississippi except a reservation one hundred miles in length and twenty in width on the headwaters of the river Minnesota They are to remove to this reservation within two years from the date and, the removal, are to receive $275,000 cost of them fully in their new location—$30 05 Lac to be expended in the thing but exceeding $10 and establishing a manual labor school and $30 000 to be given for fifty years an annuity of $30 000 payable as follows —Cash $40 000 civilization funds $12 000 goods and provisions $10 000, education, $6 000

By the other treaty concluded at Mendota, the Medawakanton and Wahpaton Sioux bands reside all Indians now held by them in Iowa and Minnesota have the exception which are to have a reservation bound in part by the Minnesota on either side of the lower Minnesota, bounded on the east by La Pierre river on the west by the Tchan-sas-ka and Yellow Medicine rivers, and south by a line running from the mouth of the Little Rock to the Little Wrapt river $220 000 are to be paid to them for the settlement of debts and to aid in removal, $30 000 for the erection of buildings, opening of farms &c $50,000 annually, as civilization fund, $6,000 annually as educational fund, $10,000 annually, for goods and provisions and $30 000 in cash The annuities to continue, as in the other case, fifty years.

The Pembina treaty is for the present, held to be of less importance, and comparatively little interest is there ore felt in relation to the action of the Senate upon it during the present session By this treaty the Vallagi band of Chippewas cede a country sixty five miles in width by one hundred and fifty in length running on both sides of the Red River of the north $30,000 to be paid in cash, with a cash annuity of $10,000 for twenty years

FECUNDITY EXTRAORDINARY.—The Melanges Religieux records the death of Mr Charles Bonchier of Berthier, District of Montreal, at the advanced age of 106 He was married to three wives with whom he had 60 children He leaves to deplore his loss 13 children, 66 grandchildren 13 great grand-children, 25 nephews, 70 grand-nephews 18 great grand-nephews and a large circle of friends, who assisted at his funeral which took place on the 12 h of April with great solemnity —Rochester Advertiser

A MAIDEN'S SPEECH.—A maiden should neither talk, scandal nor scold, nor hate, so long at least as she is in love on account of the contrast. When she has become mother of a household, with children cows and maidservants, no reasonable husband can object to a moderate degree of anger, and a humble share of scolding.

RIVERS AND HARBORS.

We notice by the Madison Democrat, that the party held a meeting at the Court House in that place, on receipt of the Baltimore nomination, and "resolved" a platform of their own, for want of the "genuine old Dr Townsend" from headquarters. One of the Madison planks is the following

Resolved, That the improvement of our Western Rivers and Harbors, so far as the same may come within the purview of the Constitution, is a democratic doctrine, both in word and deed, as the records of Congress amply attest, and any attempt on the part of Whiggery to gainsay this fact calls for no other response than a reply to demagogueism

This will do very well for Madison politicians but it deceives nobody, least of all the people of Wisconsin, who are well aware of the true state of the case. They will look further than to the resolutions of a meeting in an interior village of this State to find what the views of the party are as to protection to life and property on the Western waters They have long seen the manner in which Loco Foco politicians, from Gen Cass down, have given this great interest nothing but sneers or neglect. And, furthermore, they will look thro' the later Baltimore resolutions, and look in vain, to find a word of hope All that they will find there, are the two decayed planks of the old platform which follow, and upon which the party has acted, and will continue to act Here is the 'Democratic" party upon Rivers and Harbors—it will require strong magnifiers to find a glimmer of hope in it

Resolved, That the federal government is one of limited powers, derived solely from the constitution and the grants of power made therein ought to be strictly construed by all the departments and agents of the government, and that it is inexpedient and dangerous to exercise doubtful constitutional powers

That the constitution does not confer upon the general government the power to commence and carry on a general system of rate and improvements.

And yet the party declares its faith in the resolutions of '98," and the old Baltimore Platform in respects to direct power, over the necks of the people, upon the memory of the shadows of such poor dead horses these!

Railroad Matters.

We find the following in the Madison Democrat

MILWAUKEE & JANESVILLE RAILROAD.—It has been stated in the Milwaukee papers that arrangements have been made by the M and M Railroad company for the extension of that road to Janesville, the citizens of Janesville subscribing $50,000 and the company guaranteeing the completion of the extension by the first of November We of course certainly do not object to the extension of the road to Janesville but the going out of the Milwaukee papers of a design on the part of the company to change the direction of the road through Janesville to the Mississippi has raised doubt as to the good faith of the company towards Madison It is the design of the Milwaukee directors to run the road down to the State line to connect with Chicago for the trade of Illinois to the exclusion of this part of the State, if time the fact was known We have other outlets offered which would contribute quite as much to our local interests—this branch of the R R Valley road to Madison, the Madison and Pelost road each offer inducements to cut Milwaukee, if as appearances seem to indicate, Milwaukee proposes to cut us The country can live without the city quite as well as the city can prosper without the country

Now, in all kindness, why should our Madison friends evince such a feeling as they do in the above, and as they are constantly showing? Is not the road under contract to Madison, and is not the company working on towards Madison as rapidly as its means will allow? and will not a connection with Janesville, secured by so little expenditure of means and time, increase the ability of the company to reach Madison? Why will not our Dane county friends put their shoulders to the wheel and help the road along, instead of wasting time and breath in unjust suspicions By taking advantage of a charter passed last winter, the company, with the cooperation of the citizens of Janesville, find that they can reach that place, and gain a large and profitable trade and traffic before winter sets in Why should they not do it? And how, in the name of common sense, is the connection with Madison hazarded by such a movement?

DANIEL WEBSTER, AND "MATERIAL AID".—Mr Webster was present at the banquet given to the officers of the Dutch frigate in New York lately and made a capital speech He rejoiced the hearts of the old Knickerbockers by recalling the ancient glories of the land of dykes, and gallant navies, and unwearied industry, and "brought down the house" by the following expression

I can never forget that the Dutch yielded us sympathy—yielded us as we say in our day, material aid, (cheers) and when our prospects were threatened with blight, gave us the timely assistance of the sinews of war"

MODESTY.—The Madison Democrat having quizzed our neighbor of the Wisconsin about its favorable allusion to the probability" of Genl Pierce's being the nominee, and having asked— What will the prophet claim?"—our innocent cotemporary blushes to his ears, and answers

We claim no "reward" as we have never yet earned it directly or indirectly asked an office from any Democrat and we trust that we never shall, as we consider the position of an established Journal far above that of any office-holder in the Union It is won by one's own toil and energy, and it cannot be taken away by the will of any man' such independence is beyond all price Office-seeking we have always despised, and we trust that nothing may ever occur, which will compel us to yield to its degradation

It is pleasant to see the evidence, in manhood of returning the freshness and simplicity of early years

COMPETITION.—The fine steamer Golden Gate, Capt HARRY WHITAKER made her appearance here very early morning and started at once in her place in the Southern Michigan R R line, of which Chi ago is the great head She was brimfull of spirit and chafed at the dock so that they had to let her take the bit in her mouth No long after the Arctic, Capt BUTLER of the other line which had been quite as anxious to get off, jerked away spitefully from the pier and coming round started off after the Golden Gate like a hound let loose from the leash Despatches reached here last evening of the great time which they made to Racine, Kenosha &c

The competition between the two lines will be lively and we hope good natured and safe

DR SAMUEL NOTT.—This venerable New England preacher died at Franklin, Connecticut on the 26th ult, in his 99th year About a week before his decease, his gown caught fire while sitting alone in his room, and before it was extinguished his hand was badly burnt.—The injury and excitement consequent upon this accident probably hastened his death

DR Nott had been settled in the parish more than seventy years and was probably the oldest pastor of a parish in New England, or perhaps in the United States He was an elder brother of Eliphalet Nott, President of Union College and gave him all his early education He leaves behind him descendants to the fourth generation in his own family and among the people of his parish, to whom he has ministered for seventy years.

THE JENNIE'S ESTATE.—The English papers by the Asia announce that the Court of Chancery has settled this long litigated case The property lies principally in Suffolk, and was once estimated at $7 000 000, but only one half has been divided by the late decision One of the fortunate claimants is a journeyman painter of Maldon, named Langham The property is divided into seven portions. Langham's share is £500,000

CHICAGO BRICKS.—A gentlemen from Chicago arrived in this city on Saturday, bringing a specimen of the famous brick of that city—in his hat. Det Adv

We yield all claim to that sort of brick

The Fifth Ward Public School.

Messrs Editors

The undersigned enjoyed the pleasure of visiting the different departments of the above School yesterday, and he was so pleased with what he saw and heard that he deems it his duty to pay this public tribute of approval to the efforts of the talented Principal, and his able Assistants who conduct that School

The first department that I visited et seed was that under the direction of Miss THOMPSON Here I found a large number of children under the sole management of that worthy and estimable lady The utmost order and decorum prevailed the School room, everything was conducted in the best manner, and as I beheld Miss THOMPSONS amidst her labors I could not repress the thought that it is impossible to reward, by pecuniary compensation, the services of such an able lady in the work in which she is engaged

I next visited the intermediate department which is under the superintendence of Miss I E BENNETT, who is a most amiable and accomplished young lady Her abilities are of the highest order, and her school is a perfect model The parents who have children under her care have reason to congratulate themselves on their good fortune in securing the services of such an excellent young lady

The highest department I found under the control of the talented Principal JAMES BAKER, Esq, assisted by Miss N MCWHORTER, whose experience, amiability are beyond all praise Mr BAKER is a good disciplinarian, and perfect order reigns in his school room He has had much experience as a teacher, and he possesses the rare faculty of imparting successfully the instruction which he wishes to convey

In conclusion permit, me to say that I was highly delighted with my visit and I would suggest to the citizens of the fifth ward that they should visit their school and teachers frequently for they have a school of which they have reason to be proud A VISITOR

THE PLAIN TRUTH WELL TOLD.—The New York Tribune—in one of its best articles written in reply to one of the many charges in the Washington Union that the Whig party of the North insists upon agitating the slavery question, and "disturbing the Union"—replies with truth and with earnest language

Not through the action of the Whig nor of any other party but through the natural swelling and palpitation of the heart of Humanity is aided but also inadequately repressed by party ligaments and bandages, do we look with confidence for the ultimate banishment of Slavery from our land—Congress could do nothing in the premises but define the National scourge and shame within its present legal boundaries—we are afraid it will do even less than this—and yet the sentiments of Justice and Philanthropy will gradually undermine their rightful sway over the human soul, and the end of Slavery will come—we trust not through convulsion and disruption, but like the swelling of the buds and the unfolding of the leaves which need nothing like "agitation" beyond the falling of sunshine and rain on the earth and the circulation of the sap through trunks and branches As respects Slavery all that we ask of any party is that it shall let it alone, and not attempt to stifle the monitions of conscience to falter and corrupt public sentiment, and to harden the popular heart

"BOUND TO TRY IT".—The Emigrant Boat that we spoke of some weeks ago which was then being built at Fond du Lac by Messrs Miller & Whelply, passed through the canal on Tuesday last—The boat was 70 feet long and 11 feet beam with a cabin 40 feet in length—There were three families on board, besides several persons without families—The boat was very heavily loaded with all kinds of household furniture, besides mechanics tools and farming implements—We believe it is bound for La Crosse—This appears to be a very cheap mode of emigration The following motto was on their boat, Bound to try it—Portage City Republic

CIRCUIT COURT.

BEFORE JUDGE HUBBELL

The Court house was unusually thronged yesterday morning in consequence of it having been understood that the prisoners James Cornaughty and Patrick McDonald were to be brought up for sentence, for the murder of John Gullen Several Judges were in attendance and at 10½ o'clock the Judge entered the Court and asked Mr Butler, the District Attorney whether he had anything to move Mr Butler stated that in the case of the State against McDonald and Connaughty for the murder of John Cullen, he moved for sentence to be pronounced upon them The Sheriff was then ordered by the court to bring the prisoners up for sentence, but before doing so the District Attorney suggested that ARIAH LITTLE and GEO CASS, who had been tried and found guilty for minor offences should be disposed of ARIAH LITTLE who was indicted and found guilty of the crime of forgery was accordingly brought up and sentenced for 2 years imprisonment from the present term and 3 days solitary confinement—GEO CASS who was indicted and found guilty for passing counterfeit money was sentenced to 1 year imprisonment from the day at hard labor and 3 days solitary confinement Those prisoners having been handcuffed and removed, the Sheriff was then ordered to bring up the prisoners Patrick McDonald and James Connaughty, for sentence After a few moments had elapsed he prisoners were brought into court Connaughty was rather well dressed in a plain black suit, but his appearance was that of a man who had suffered much from mental anxiety and exhaust on he appeared dispirited and cast down McDonald's appearance was not so favorable on exa ed but yet he did not look like a bi ht man he appeared cast down and dispirited, but not so much so as Connaught in

On McDonald being asked by the Court whether he had anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon him, he said "I have —but I am also after innocent of the crime," and nothing further The Court then address d Connaughty and asked whether he had anything to say why the sentence of death should not be pronounced against him He said

I have said a good deal to-day—but I do not know what to say I solemnly declare before me God and the world I had no hand, act nor part in or any knowledge of the throwing the body of John Cullen in the river I solemnly declare before my God and the world that I did not murder him I, also, declare in the midst of John Gullen And I solemnly declare before my God and he world I never received one shilling of his money in any manner whatever, with the exception of one shilling which he gave me in liquor"

The prisoners having ceased speaking he judge then addressed them impressively and feelingly He said

Pierce McDonald and James Connaughty you have been indicted, tried and found guilty of the highest crime in the law You have had a fair trial—you have had able counsel to defend you and you have had a fair and impartial jury to try you—this jury was one of your own choice you have had the opportunity of bringing forward all the witnesses which were necessary for your defence The verdict of that jury after a fair and candid investigation of the facts of the case, was that you were guilty of the murder of John Gullen In regard to you, McDonald and your wife, it was proved that John Gullen went into your house alive and in health and he came out of your house dead On his blood was found on your garments and on your floor You were seen upon him at the last, and when you were seen to strike the last blow, and while you were doing so you use the words of Connaughty's son—he groaned like a man who was very sick—you did not then spare your hand You, Connaughty, did not offer to protect the dying man—on your waggon was found the blood of the dying man, and you were seen next morning rubbing the blood spots with your foot as if attempting to cover them up On being asked the next morning about the murder man, you were seen to smile and heard to say, he got a good beating and that he would come back wherever he was and that he was safe You were proved to have his cap and his coat in your house—the cap had been washed by you—and it was proved you also tried to wash it because it was dirty All these circumstances and many others satisfied the jury that you were the person who took the life of John Gullen and turned out the river, where it was found on the 11 th day following

The circumstances satisfy me as well as the jury of your guilt You have now come to the end of your trial and I do seek you to prepare to meet God and go before your God Remember that it was never in the voice of your innocent child when she called on you to desist from beating the murdered man Be prepared then to meet your God—and I trust that God will judge you mercifully It is now my sad and painful duty to pass upon you both the sentence which the law requires of me—and that is that you McDonald, at the time and place, where and when the Governor shall by his warrant direct, be taken from the jail to the place of execution, and that you be then hung by the neck until you are dead—dead—dead—and may the Lord have mercy on your soul

With regard to you, Connaughty the sentence of the law is that you at such time and place where and when the Governor of this State shall, by his warrant direct, be taken from the jail to the place of execution, and that you be then hung by the neck until you are dead—dead—dead—and may the Lord have mercy on your soul

The prisoners were then handcuffed and removed

The Sheriff was then directed by the Court to bring up for sentence, Augustus C Lawson and Margaret Lawson, his wife indicted and found guilty for rape After a short time the prisoners were brought into Court Lawson was quite well dressed and appeared in good spirits, but had all the aur dapp arance of a man who had led an abandoned life Margare Lawson his wife was rather showily dressed in a fashionable but not a clean satin dress, colored gloves and a cambrick perfumed handkerchief she did not however, appear to share the spirits of her husband The Judge after having commented on the enormity of the abominable offence of which they had been found guilty and on the abandoned life which they had led sentenced Lawson to confinement for 12 years in the State Prison at hard labor, and 20 days solitary confinement and sentenced Margare Lawson his wife to 10 years confinement in the State Prison and 30 days solitary confinement

After the sentence Lawson made a few rambling remarks protesting that neither he nor his wife were guilty of the offence of which they had been found guilt The prisoners were then removed

The last prisoner brought up for sentence was James Burns indicted for burglary and breaking into and entering a dwelling therefrom a barrel of pork He was not only indicted for burglary, to which he pleaded guilty, but he was also indicted for stealing hams and for stealing a silk bonnet, to each of which he also pleaded guilty It appeared from his statement to the court, that he had spent the winter at Lake Mills, and that he had spent all his time while in Milwaukee at a house of ill fame—that he was a young Englishman only 17 years of age, and that he had been 9 years in his country He acknowledged that he had lived rather an abandoned life while away from his father who resided in Chicago but that he trusted the court would deal mercifully with him After having received some well-judged advice and warning from the Court as to the company he was keeping and the result such a life would lead to, he was sentenced to 3 months confinement in the jail, with an intimation, that if at the end of that time he conducted home if in a proper manner, the court would advise the District Attorney to discontinue proceedings on the other indictments against him

Governor Martin on Kossuth and Intervention.

Boston, June 4

Governor Martin, of New Hampshire, in his message delivered yesterday speaks thus of Kossuth and Intervention

The prose the halls of Legislature, Mummeputtees, the people, have issued forth one ocean tide of sympathy for his cause and his country and our federal government should give her high and republican, and peerless sanction of the principle of non-intervention in the domestic concerns of nations The despots of Europe expect us the only representatives of a free government, to favor freedom everywhere, and why should they not expect us by every mean moral and national, to favor the non-intervention principles of the law of nations also"

WOOL—The excitement which naturally follows the discovery of gold, is now having its effect in Australia An English paper says—

The Australian fleece has been gradually supplying all others in our markets and most observers of English Colonial affairs must, in deference to the general opinion, be prepared to see the quantity of the staple coming from the Southern Wales and Victoria not keep pace in increase with the astonishing rapidity which characterizes the progress of the British Colonies in other respects, and which they have already shown in the production of wool during the short period that has elapsed since the first bale was sent to England from Port Phillip in 1838 The gold fields are, no doubt, the chief cause of this, and the high prices which they have for several years commanded for labor, will continue to operate for a long time to come, as the attractions of the diggings will always be sufficient to draw away from the pastoral districts a large proportion of the laboring population, and the flocks will therefore be left in the charge of a comparatively small number of shepherds

The Tehuantepec Business.

A correspondent who favors us with his views upon the Times and the Tehuantepec treaty, runs into some blunders deserving correction:

The position that we have assumed is that Mexico having, by repeated acts, sanctioned and given marketable value to the Garay grant is now precluded from pleading the enormity of the grant, of the unfair means of its original acquisition, as a bar to all compliance with it. For the sake of conciseness, we sum up these various acts:

1. The original cession of Santa Anna, President, to Jose Garay, March 1, 1842, wherein the public faith is pledged at all times to protect said Garay in the possession, as well as any private individual or company succeeding or representing him, either native, or foreigners.

2. Proclamation of Nicholas Bravo, President, February 9th, 1853, directing the governors of Oaxaca and Vera Cruz, to place Garay in possession of his grant.

3. A decree of Santa Anna, again President, extending the time for beginning the works to July 1, 1845.

4. The action of the Mexican Congress in June 1845, upon further extension of the term. A bill for the purpose had passed the House of Representatives; been sent to the Senate, and there reported favorably upon in Committee, when the Government was subverted by Marino Sallas.

5. A decree by the Dictator Sallas, November 6, 1846, which did nothing more than repeat the language of the act just referred to; extending the time to Nov. 5th, 1848; and before that time the official reports of the Mexican authorities on the Isthmus attest that the work was commenced.

6. The sanction lent by the Mexican Government to the transfer of Manning, Mackintosh & Co., the British capitalists.

7. The refusal of $15,000,000 for the right from the American Government, because as they declared, they could not treat on the subject, having, several years before, made a grant to one of her own citizens, who had transferred his rights by the authority of the Mexican government to English subjects, of whose rights Mexico could not dispose.

8. In April, 1850, the American purchasers from these English subjects, expressed to the Mexican Government, through Gov. Letcher, their desire to extend their surveys and resume the work on the Isthmus. That Government expressed not the slightest objection, or doubt, as to the rights of the company. If forwarded passports for the laborers; opened the ports for their supplies; directed the officials on the Isthmus to assist them; and by every possible token sanctioned the claim.

Here then is a brief of title that would stand in any court of law. For eight years the government, in whosoever hands it happened to be, was busy in reiterating the inviolability of the grant. It is only when the right passes, not merely into foreign, but into American hands, and when with characteristic energy, the Americans set about the work earnestly, showing that it is no part of their design to hold an idle claim, that we hear these paltry excuses urged; an insolent order for a suspension of the work; and an intimation forwarded to this government that Mexico will only treat upon the subject when the Garay claim has been formally abandoned. We repeat what we have urged already, that if our Government treat with Mexico for the release of any portion of the claim, it will be bound to indemnify citizens who are bona fide holders of the rights so given away, to its full value. It will be private property taken for a public use. And are we prepared to step in and pay a forfeiture, due from Mexico for a violated bargain; especially when all the great interests of the nation suffer equally by the violation?

The Mayflower herself Again!

Hardly had the first excitement of the Baltimore Convention subsided, when the booming of cannon from the revenue cutter, anchored near the fort, answered by ordinance from the docks, announced to the citizens of Detroit that the glorious Mayflower, in the full renewal of her strength, beauty and swiftness, was approaching the city. At the first report, thousands of citizens flocked with their families to the Central Railroad docks, to witness the welcome spectacle of her safe return, after having weathered, through a dreadful winter, the lashing of the storm upon an inhospitable and ice-bound shore.

As she rounded wind-mill point, her familiar form fell upon the eye in all its wonted ease and beauty of line and finish, as perfect a model of her class as upon the day when she first gave her prow to the bosom of our beautiful River, upon which long may she float in pride—its queen as she is.

Gallantly she came on, as if the return to the scenes which gave her birth, filled her with new life—cheered by the roaring of cannon, and the shout upon shout which gave her welcome back, and animated by the throngs of her old friends who crowded her decks; and so absorbed were all eyes in gazing upon her, that it was not until she was nearly abreast of her old berth, that the Empire State was observed in her wake, making all crack again to keep near enough to form a part of the spectacle.

We welcome her back again on behalf of Detroit and of Michigan, as we would welcome a friend, who has been brought nigh unto death; back unto life, and strength, and beauty; and on behalf of those who, in times past, have rejoiced to commit their safety to her staunch frame, and have been the grateful participants of her many comforts and elegancies—we tender to those whose honest pride in her reputation has led them to put forth their unwearied energies to make her what she is, a tribute of grateful thanks; and to her esteemed and gallant commander, Willoughby, and to the rest of her officers and crew, a hearty welcome to her decks.

Long may her flag float—and when, at last, she shall have done her allotted work, may she meet no outward or untimely end, but sink to her decay in peace amid the scenes which gave her birth.

KILL YOUR RATS! SLAY YOUR MICE!

Exterminate your Bugs!!

THE Celebrated RAT AND MICE EXTERMINATOR is the only article that has yet been discovered to effectually destroy vermin.

The great objection to the ordinary poisons is, that although they destroy the Rats, still the unpleasant smell arising from the dead carcasses, renders the remedy worse than the disease."

The Exterminator from the chemical combination of its ingredients, destroys not by poisoning, but in a moment of EXPLOSION, destroying all the causes of effluvia with life. It has also the singular effect of creating such a PANIC, that in a short time no Rat, Mouse or Roach will be found lurking near where it is used. Hordes, Hens and Out-Houses can be speedily freed from them by a few applications.

Packing, Flour and Whiskey BARRELS, and PIPES or HOGSHEADS, at the rate of

600 Whiskey or 800 Flour Barrel Staves PER HOUR,

Six horse power is sufficient to drive the machine with all the speed necessary.

The Subscribers having purchased of Wm. Hawkins the patent right for the United States are prepared to sell rights for States, Counties, or for running single machines and to furnish and set up the machines, warranted to perform perfectly. In the great saving of expense of transportation of dressed over the rough stave, the rapidity and perfect manner with which it performs its work, consists the value of this machine.

Satisfactory testimonials can be furnished if desired.

THE WORLD'S FAIR PREMIUM SAFES.

DEPOT,

Green Block, Water St.,

(Between Maiden Lane and Wall Street,)

NEW YORK.

THE SUBSCRIBER PLACED HIS FIRE AND BURglar-Proof Iron Safe in competition with the whole world at the great Exhibition in London, for which an impartial jury awarded a medal.

The American Safe, held last fall at Castle Garden, also awarded to him a gold medal for the best Fire-Proof Safe, and he has never failed to obtain the highest premium when his Safes have been put in competition with others for that purpose. Certificates have been received from the following well-known mercantile houses, who have had their books, papers and valuables in these superior safes during the last thirty days, and can, with many others, be seen at my store:—Messrs. Stillwell & Montrose, and Mr. J. L. Watkins, in the Fulton Street Block; Messrs. Fisher & Robinson, and Messrs. John Lockwood & Co., in the great fire corner of Liberty and Nassau Streets, and Messrs. Pound & Bowman, in Jersey City.

Also, the proprietor of Hall's PATENT LOCK, which obtained a medal (in the name of Adams & Co., Boston,) at the World's Exhibition, and is considered the best Lock for the price, ever invented, being strong and perfect, and the Key is no larger than a dime, and can be made changeable.

I invite all purchasers to a close and careful investigation before purchasing, and decide for themselves, who makes the best Fire, Burglar and Damp-Proof Safes combined.

SALAMANDER SAFES.

WILDER'S PATENT AND RICH'S PATENT COMBINED.

$100,000 SAVED.

FIRE in Pearl Street and Fletcher Street, New York.—Three Stores and their contents destroyed. Deeds before words!

RICH'S SAFES AGAIN!

EIGHT SAFES of different makers consumed, with their contents! The Safe made by Rich & Co. defied the flames and brought out its contents without a mark of fire upon them!

MR. GILBERT'S LETTER,

THE FIRE IN FLETCHER AND PEARL-STS., NEW YORK.

MESSRS. STEARNS AND MARVIN, successors, to C. Rich & Co., No. 146, Water Street, New York—SIRS, when the fire was consuming my place of business, No. 216, Pearl Street, I was obliged to leave my books and papers in the safe. Your agent was in connection with my Excelsior Thrasher, and did not read the account until I was fearful it was too late to save my books, which were placed by one of your safes purchased from Mr. Marvin some years ago. My fears were not allayed when I found it necessary upon my return to apply the Croton Water 40 hours, before I was enabled to commence operations; after which it required 54 hours of labor and application to rake the Salamander from its ashy bed. You may judge of my anxiety during this delay, and my agreeable surprise when the safe in the presence of a number of gentlemen, to find my books and papers saved, and as legible as they were previous to the fire. The books were subsequently examined, and can be conjectured from the condition of another safe, (not a Salamander) of which an iron skeleton frame only remained, and not a vestige of a book, or even ashes remained, but a vestige on the second floor, from which they fell upon crates of ex then were in the cellar, the ruined safe upon the Salamander. If their position had been reversed, not even the skeleton would have remained. My loss over the insurance is $1,900, yet the salvation of my books in your Salamander, with the representatives of $100,000 and important documents which could not be duplicated, has fully compensated me.

I will afford me great pleasure to exhibit the new safe purchased of you, and explain its merits, at my present office, No. 221 Pearl street, where I shall remain until the new building, No. 216, is erected.

Yours respectfully, JOSEPH G. GILBERT.

The undersigned, having since country merchants and those interested in the preservation of their books from fire, (but particularly those having Rich's safe in use) to call at the Depot 146 Water street, New York, to see the inferior of Mr. Gilbert's safe with the books undisturbed, which he has kindly permitted to remain for the satisfaction and gratification of the public.

THE subscribers, thankful for past favors, beg leave to announce that they have recently added the Foundry business to their former occupation of Mill Stone manufacturing, and are now prepared to supply the public with articles in either branch, on terms that will defy competition.

In offering our Stoves to the community, we do so with the full assurance that we can supply better articles than can be purchased at any other place, being entirely new patterns, manufactured with care and from the very best materials. The following list of patterns is offered with the confidence that they will give satisfaction in every particular, viz:

THE ECONOMIST

DOUBLE OVEN COOKING STOVE,

(Which received the First Premium at the State Fair, lately held at Janesville.)

Possesses great advantages over every other stove, for plain flues and direct application of heat, being so arranged that one or both ovens can be used at pleasure. It will cook in half the time of any other stove now in use, and with half the fuel, not consuming over four cords of wood in one year.

THE TRIUMPH, single oven, takes in long wood, is an excellent stove—one that has been well tested, and given general satisfaction.

THE PREMIUM is different in its construction from any other made, in the arrangement of the fire back—acknowledged to be a great improvement.

THE JUNO PARLOR is adapted to either wood or coal, being decidedly the neatest arrangement ever offered to the public, having all the convenience of the stove combined with the beauties of the open grate. It is beautifully ornamental, highly finished, and perfect in every respect—the entire front above and below the grate being opened or closed with three doors and so arranged that when open they are completely out of sight. It is equally adapted to offices as well as parlors.

THE RADIATOR is the best coal stove ever got up as a radiator or Cylinder.

Persons purchasing their stoves of us, in the event of any of the plates getting broke, can at all times be supplied with extra ones, thus superceding the necessity of throwing away about, which many are daily compelled to do in buying Eastern ware.

Those who are in want of an article in our line, will find it to their advantage to call at our store before purchasing elsewhere, as we are confident that we can give satisfaction in all cases. City references given, where our stoves can be seen in operation. Stoves delivered to any part of the city free of charge. All orders promptly attended to.
